

Prolongation of Fee Waiver for Trading in EEX EGSi Financial Gas Futures

Dear Trading Participants,

To further stimulate a growing market, EEX & ECC management boards have decided to extend the existing trading and clearing fee waiver:

All initiated transactions in EEX EGSi Futures will stay free of charge until 31 December 2023. In this way, traders can continue to have an attractive participation in our young financial gas futures segment.

Our financial gas futures can be traded in the three prominent hubs of TTF, THE, as well as CEGH VTP and enable new Day-, Weekend- and Week gas maturities. This is matching EEX financial power future contracts such that guaranteed spark spreads are made available for trading alongside the full curve without any physical delivery agreement being required. In addition to physical trading in gas derivatives, EEX also enables participation in financial gas futures with the European Spot Gas Index (ESGI) as a liquid underlying.

All derivatives positions are being cash-settled against EEX number one benchmark European Gas Spot Index (EGSI). Get more information under <https://www.eex.com/en/markets/natural-gas/egsi-futures> and benefit from free trading by sending an email to sales@eex.com.

Best regards,
